

Wycombe out for revenge

WYCOMBE WANDERERS have a special reason for beating Slough Town in the Rothmans Isthmian League tonight (Tuesday) at Wexham Park. Earlier this season, the Rebels ended Wycombe's home league record of 52 matches without defeat when they won 1-0 at Loakes Park. George Dobson scored the deciding goal.

The Blues are expected to keep the side that clinched an excellent 2-1 victory over leaders Enfield on Saturday in what was generally regarded as their best performance of the season. Tommy James could make a return as substitute.

Since that victory at Wycombe, Slough have drawn half their matches and have had problems in front of goal, scoring only twice in their last four outings. Tony White, a coloured centre-forward, who had a game for Wycombe before joining the Rebels, scored twice on his debut but has since left and another player to depart is goalkeeper Dave Collyer. He has been kept out of the side by Paul Barron and has since joined Dagenham.

Former Borough Road College player Steve Hill is expected to be in the side tonight in place of Paul Devis while Dobson has recently returned to the front line.

Wanderers will be aiming for a continuation of Saturday's form. With renewed confidence, they could well take their revenge for that earlier home defeat and continue their climb up the table.
